

As a flight attendant for a major carrier I object to this "privilege" for several reasons. First, it is hard enough to keep up with all the new technology in today's world, so it makes us the airplane police with a public that already objects when you announce please turn off all electronic devices and cellular phones. Now we must go up and down the aisles checking who has what on! Plus many people want some peace and quiet from the rat race. When passengers have a slight problem with their neighbor who do they call to solve the problem? Us, so I can see it now these obnoxious people chatting it up loudly and others asking us to resolve it. I have seen so many people get on the aeroplane saying "I'm on the plane now, I'm going to my seat etc etc", now please tell me that is so important !? As a passenger myself I would really object to being subjected to these conversations. We already have to deal with our quiet time being disturbed on the buses, subways and commuter trains. Please Please don't allow this it is hard enough getting people to turn devices off to listen to PA'S and the safety demos. Thank you
